Referring to the arrival of H. M. S. Mercuru Colombo, en route to this station, the Gaucon Observer says:—Though built about 12 years ago this is the first time the Mercury has been for away from the English coast -a fact which leads one to think that there must have been something radically wrong about her somewhere. Her sister ship, the Iris, has already done two commissions abroad, but the Mercury has never yet had what may be called a proper commission. So far she has only been a "show" ship, having been brought out merely for naval reviews and mancavres. For purposes of this kind she was commissioned for four months in 1885, and she also had various short commissions for mancouvres in 1887-88-89. In 1886 her armament was altered from ten 64-pounders to thirteeen in. breech-loaders. The fest of her armament consists of four 3-pounder quick-firing gaus, four I in. Nordenfeldts. two 45 in. Her engines are of the old-fashioned horizontal double-expansion type, there are two funnels, and coming out she made an average speed of about 10 knots, though she can do knots, we are told. When commissioned on the 18th of Feb. last, she was square-rigged at her foremast and had a bowsprit whichmade ber pitch and toss fearfully, but before leaving they took that out and now she is fore and aft rigged But we believe she is still far from a perfect boat; and it certainly is not a reassuring circum. The Bill was read a third time and passed THE MAGISTRATES BILL. The Council resumed Committee on the Bill On section 80, which provides that a Magistrate, instead of committing for trial a person boats, charged with an indictable offence may convict summarily and impose six months' imprison-

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL said It had been represented to him by one of the Magistrates that i was desirable the power of punishment should beingreased with reference to one very common offence, that of steeling on a British ship on the high seas, from emigrants or others. It was desirable these cases should be dealt with summarily, as it was difficult to detain people for a month to attend the sessions when they were simply passing through and perhaps The Acting Colonial Secretary By had no money to support themselves, and it was direction of His Excellency the Officer Administ thought six months imprisonment was an inadequate punishment. Hon, J. J. KESWICE said he would like to ask whether a Chinese boat, or junk, or vessel of every description in the harbour might be regarded as a British ship. Speaking from memory, he observed the other day that a innk or vessel was seized by pirates not very far rom the Colony, a man was apprehended, at Shau-ki-wan, he believed, and brought before the Magistrate, and he (the hon, member) observed with astonishment that he was dis charged on the ground that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction. He did not doubt for moment the Magistrate was acting according to law, but the decision atruck him as very extraordinary when viewed in connection with the reference of the Attorney-General on the pres-

The ATTOUNET-GENERAL said the case reforred to by the hon, member had not been brought to his notice and it would therefore he unwise for him to say whether the Magistrate was right or wrong, but he would have the papers sent to him. He did not suppose a junk would be a British ship, but every vessel that came into the harbour of a British possession had to conform to the laws of that possession. The ACTING REGISTEAR GENERAL said the Magistrates already had power to give twelve months in certain cases, as for instance, returning from banishment and some classes of assault, and he thought it desirable they should have the power of committing for twelve months in all indictable offences. In some cases the Chinese, if they thought a case was to be committed cause they complained of the law's delays.

The soction was amended by inserting the words "twelve months" in lieu of "six months." The ACTING COLONIAL SECRETARY remarked that the power to punish for an offence committed on the high seas was conferred by an left hand, and the Hotel, but at more than twice Imperial Act, and he thought it could not be extended by a local Ordinance, so that the albeach native cultivation of yams, boins, multeration would make very little difference with the Attorney-General.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL proposed that in section 86, which provides that juvenile thieves may be whipped, the words "any assault occa- having been lapped by the waves. INGLISH AND OHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous obleots in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. visit to Penelope. Stopping into the open air, she finds that al roady twilight is giving place to night, and not being above those qualms of fear that sometimes attend the nervous wanderer in darksome places it is with a distinctly frightened face she mounts the stile and drops into the woods at Hume. A mental determination never to spend the afternoon again at Rathmere during the short spring days without giving orders for the carriage to call for her and take her home, suggests itself to her as she steps lightly over the brawling brook that seems to roar with flerce threatenings in the silence of the gloomy trees.
